

HOW FAR WOULD YOU GET ON £94.25?

If you became too ill to work, you'd soon find out.

You might be surprised to find that Statutory Sick Pay is only £94.25¹ a week. Enough to fill up the car maybe, but how far through the week would you get?

It could pay to get all the facts on what the state might provide:

- Statutory Sick Pay is just £94.25¹ a week and is only paid for up to 28 weeks – although your employer may pay you more than this.
- With Employment and Support Allowance you'll get up to £73.10¹ a week – not a lot when you consider the average household family spend is £572.60² a week.
- And it increases up to £111.65¹ a week from the fourteenth week – just over a fifth of the average weekly outgoings.

A little income protection could help keep your engine running.
